EDITOR'S NOTE

Sizzling Summer!

The summer heat is beating down like Evil Buu on Kami's Floating Palace. And the forecast for this month's issue of Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector is burning up the newsstands. If you thought the heat outside was scorching, wait till you read one of this month's feature articles, Baddest of the Bad on page 22. We have created a top ten list of the most extreme villains of DBZ. And wait till you see whose number one. Before you get there make a list of your top ten and see how it compares.

Each month we receive hundreds of letters and e-mails from DBZ fans around the world from Perth, Australia to London, England. Not only are the letters interesting but also the artwork on the outside is incredible. The past few months we have been saving some of the best and they are available for your viewing pleasure on page 6. Speaking of e-mails, this month the DBZ Online column on page 46, is full of links to great Web sites sent in by DBZ fans.

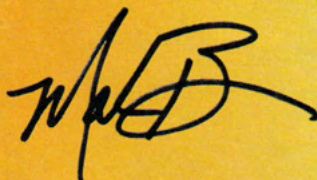

To beat the best, you have to be the best. This month in DBZ Rulez we share with you the counter-attack that can beef-up your deck and take down some of the most notable decks. Check out the new strategies on page 18.

You want the truth; well you can't handle the truth! This month's Master Roshi's Trivia is on fire with more truths about Dragon Ball Z. Find out the who's, what's and when's on page 4.

Because of the heat, we're back with part two of the coolest card set this summer, Hero Collection Series 4 from Artbox. This set contains all our favorite heroes and their different transformations too! We pick up on page 12.

Keep it cool and keep up the great letters and artwork. And don't forget to fill out our Super Saiyan Survey on page 64, you could be chosen to win a cool Super Saiyan Trunks Promo Card.

Fan LetterZ

Want autographed cards? Who doesn't?

Levi, from Lanett, Alabama asks: "How do I get those autographed Vegeta, S.S. Goten, S.S. Goku 3 and Majin Buu cards because I Would really like to get one?"

Have no fear!

Autographed cards are here! Vegeta cards signed by Chris Sabat! Super Buu cards signed by Justin Cook! S.S. Goku cards signed by Sean Schemmel and more can be found randomly inserted in the 2002 Hero Collection Series 4 packs! But of course you probably already know that, since you no doubt have a copy of August's issue of Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector....Right?

Is there life after Dragon Ball Z? Only if you're ready for the Grand Tour...

Ray, of Monroe, Louisiana asks: "Do you guys know if the voice cast of Dragon Ball Z are planning to translate Dragon Ball GT?"

Well Ray, first of all, the voice actors themselves do not translate the episodes.

FUNimation has a translator working in the studio. Also, some of the voice actors of Dragon Ball Z will be voicing characters on Dragon Ball GT, but no names have been released. Keep checking the web site www.beckettdbz.com and the magazine for the latest info!

How about those DBZ Movies?

Well, Justin of Arizona writes: "The first three uncut theatrical movies; classic, better than Gone With the Wind, Casablanca and about six other so called classics put together." However, Justin had a somewhat different view of "The History of Trunks", "Bardock" and "Lord Slug" features, and asks: "Please make original Japanese versions with subtitles or something. The original soundtracks from Japan are so classic."

Don't like "Deftones" or "Disturbed" music in your Dragon Ball Z action Justin? Need to take your DBZ listening back to its roots? Well, your answer's only a DVD away! "The History of Trunks", "Bardock" and "Lord Slug" features are available right now on DVD and include 2 versions: an English uncut version and an original Japanese version subtitled in English. Oh, and did I mention you can purchase all three features directly from Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector for $24.99 each, by calling (972) 991-6657.

You got contest questions? We got answers!

Looks like we've got a question from another Justin, this time Justin of Napa, California, (Napa...cool...too bad it's not spelled with 2 "P's") and he asks:

"I was looking at the official rules for your contests when a question crossed my mind. It says you will accept photocopies, am I correct? Well, I was wondering, if I made photocopies of a contest fill out form and sent them all in one envelope to you, would you accept those entries as individual entries? Would all of them be counted in the contest? The reason I ask this question, is because, when I was filling out a contest form, I noticed that it said, "one entry per person," and then right below it, it says, "photocopies are accepted." What does it mean? If you only allow one entry per person, then why do you say that you accept photocopies? That's like, violating what you said about one entry per person. Please explain this to me."

I sense confusion from your letter Justin, so we'll try and clear up the uncertainty. No, if you made photocopies of a contest form and sent them all in one envelope we would count only ONE of the entries, hence the phrase: "Only one entry per person". When we say, "Photocopies are accepted", it is so that you don't have to tear a page out of your pristine copy of Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector. So, Save your beautiful Beckett DBZ collector and just send in ONE photocopied entry form! We're waiting!!!

Super Saiyan Piccolo? Wait that can't be right...can it?

Got any made-up Dragon Ball Z characters? Well Joanna of Kansas City, Missouri does, and she writes:

"I'm a huge DBZ fanatic and sometimes I draw made-up characters such as Super Saiyan Piccolo. I wanted to know if I would be able to send in one of my "creations" to the DBZ art gallery of Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector?... P.S. How many pictures am I allowed to send in to the art gallery?"

Can you send in made-up characters to the art gallery? YES! As a matter of fact that is a great idea! So send 'em in! Maybe we can even have a special "fan-creations" art gallery in one of our future issues! And no, there is no limit to how many pictures you can submit to the DBZ art gallery. ★

Okay Z fans, that's all for our Fan LetterZ page this time, but we hope to have many more in the future! So if you have any questions or comments please send them to "Fan LetterZ" via e-mail to dbz@beckett.com or snail mail to Beckett Dragon Ball Z Collector, Attn: Fan LetterZ 15850 Dallas Parkway Dallas, Texas 75248.

A close-up, dynamic illustration of Vegeta in his Super Saiyan form. He has spiky, golden-yellow hair and intense, light-blue eyes. His mouth is wide open in a shout or roar, revealing his teeth and tongue. He is wearing his signature blue and white Saiyan armor. The background is dark with some light rays emanating from behind him, creating a dramatic effect.

Collecting

- Hero and Villain! -

Vegeta

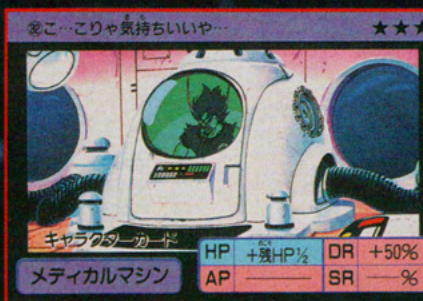

This month we've taken the advice of many of our readers and put together a checklist of one of Dragon Ball Z's most recognized characters. Because of the many transformations of Vegeta, there are many different items available in the market. From the early episodes to present, Vegeta has left his mark upon the villains and heroes of Dragon Ball Z, and what a better way to celebrate him than to show all the items available for you to collect. Check out the prices of your favorite Vegeta items in the Price Guide section on page 48.

Counter-Attack against the Best of the Best

Welcome to the latest DBZ Rulez installment. In this issue, you'll learn how to take down some of the most used deck types, and fight back against all of those powerhouse regeneration decks.

What Wins?

Here is a list of the most popular deck archetypes, and how they are used to win their matches. After reading this section, you'll know what to look out for at local tournaments and large sanctioned events.

Dragon Ball Stasis - This type of deck usually uses Android 18 or Master Roshi, and will do whatever it takes to get all of the Dragon Balls out as fast as possible. This is achieved with Goku's Dragon Ball Quest/Battle Pausing, or Vegeta's Smirk/Trunks Guardian Drill combinations.

Namekian Regen/Ally - Have you ever played a Lord Slug Namekian deck that used the IR promo card, Make A Wish? If you have, you surely won't forget it. This type of deck doesn't block many attacks, yet it uses a combination of endurance and regeneration with Lord Slug's Lv. 3 card power. No matter how hard you use this deck, it just won't die.

Orange/Blue Smackdown - Using Android 18 with Orange or Blue is quite possibly the best strategy used in today's environment. With Android 18's unique power you eliminate the chance of drawing Non-Combats when your opponent starts combat. When using Orange, cards like Orange Aura Drill and Orange Joint Restraint Drill are devastating, and when using tactical cards such as Blue Mental Drill and Android Attack Drill, it can really mean a quick death for your opponent.

Overcome the Best

Now that you know what decks are the most common and how they win, how are you going to take care of them and still win by your own methods? Here is a variety of ways you can take down each of these decks, and hopefully, win a tournament with an original deck idea.

The strategy behind controlling your deck to overcome another is known as "Teching" or "Teching against." Each major deck type has a weakness, regardless of the cards they have to work against that weakness.

Dragon Ball Stasis - This deck generally runs Dende Dragon Balls, as there is no one single way to eliminate them all from play. On top of the usual 'Anti-Dragon Ball' cards (The Power Of The Dragon, Black Water Confusion Drill, No, Really? Drill, etc.), there are many other techniques you can do to stop your opponent from winning by Dende Dragon Ball Victory. One of the least used and possibly the best is the Tech behind Dende Dragon Ball 2.

Here's how it works:

- Play any Dende Dragon Ball (DDB from now on) other than 2.
- Hit your opponent with some powerful energy attacks.
- If your opponent discards that DDB; it will be removed from the game, since it is already in play.
- On your next chance, play Dende Dragon Ball 2, and shuffle up your copy of that DDB.
- Never play that DDB again, and they cannot win by DDBall victory.

How does this work?

When you shuffle up a DDB that your opponent has removed from the game, as long as you don't play it again, your opponent will never be able to gather the seven Dragon Balls, and cannot win the game!

Other Key Cards

Namekian Regeneration/Ally - This deck type is probably the hardest to beat by conventional means, however, thanks to Cell Games cards, it is possible. This deck will either rely on its allies or its discards to dish out more damage or regenerate and start infinite loop combos. What you need to do is play some rather risky cards that will devastate your opponent.

Dying Planet - Whenever a non-Dragon Ball card goes to the owner's discard pile, that card is removed from the game. Running this card will both hurt your deck and your opponent's, that is, unless you are using a Saiyan deck? Draw more cards, and then hit your opponent for beefy Physical Attacks. Whenever they take life cards, regenerating is no longer an option!

Red Dodge - Stops a Physical Attack. Remove the top 10 cards in your opponent's discard pile from the game. Raise your anger 1. If you are using a Red physical beat down deck, or even a red anger deck, this deck is a vital key in destroying Namekian Regeneration decks.

Nailing a Namek

If playing against a Namekian Ally deck, here are four cards that can both kill off allies, and dish out some extreme damage towards your opponent.

Cell's Presence -

Remove all allies in play from the game. Limit 2 per deck. Remove from the game after use.

The Plan - Discard all opponents allies in play. Remove from the game after use. Both of these are strong in their own ways, however I recommend Cell's Presence more, as it is a Combat card rather than a Non-Combat (The Plan).

Cell's Power Drain - Cell only. Raise your Main Personality to its highest power stage. Lower all of your opponent's Allies to 0 power stages.

Saiyan Rapid Fire -

Energy attack. If successful, deal 4 power stages of damage to every Ally your opponent has in play.

If your opponent uses 'Z Warriors Gather' to search for seven allies and place them in play, use Cell's Power Drain to power those allies down to 0, then attack with Saiyan Rapid Fire. If it is successful, your opponent could take more than 30 life cards of damage!

Drill Destruction

Orange/Blue Smackdown - If your opponent is declaring a Blue or Orange Tokui-Waza, yet has a large life deck, odds are, this isn't a Dragon Ball deck. These decks will either use the power of incredible drills to stop you from performing attacks, or make their attacks that much more powerful. To stop this kind of deck, you'll need a lot of Energy Attack blocks, and plenty of drill or Non-Combat destroyers. Here are a few tips:

Android 17 Smirks - Villains only. Choose 1 opponent and remove all of his Drills in play from the game. Limit 1 per deck. Remove from the game after use.

Drills Are For the Weak - Discard all opponents' Drills in play. Remove from the game after use. Limit 1 per deck.

Android 19's Energy Burst - Villains only. Energy attack. Remove an opponent's Drill in play from the game.

All of these are excellent choices for Drill destruction, but you will need some blocks to back these up, as prevention alone is just not enough. Some recommendations are Nappa's Energy Aura, Frieza's Force Bubble, and Cell's Defense, all of which can be used to stop all of your opponent's Energy Attacks for the remainder of the combat.

BADDEST OF THE BAD

Which DBZ villain is the toughest of them all?

Raditz, Garlic Jr., Cell, Dabura, Babadi, Majin Buu; the list of Dragon Ball enemies just keeps growing and each villain seems to be even tougher than the last. Just which villain is the mightiest? Which bad guy could claim the title of greatest challenge to the Z warriors? Based on their power levels and the trouble they caused, we came up with a list of the top ten threats to Earth's heroes.

time, they should have been able to come up with some awesome attacks. But Ginyu doesn't know the first thing about wielding energy (a must if you're going to battle guys like Vegeta and Goku) and the rest of the Ginyu Force play games and strike poses when they should be preparing for battle. Until they learn that the battlefield is no place for their goofy antics, they'll always be less of a challenge than they should be.

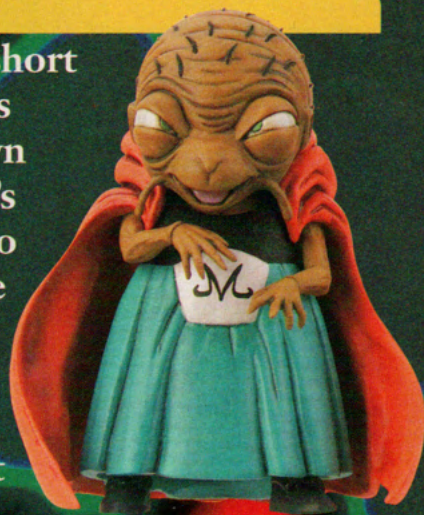

10) Ginyu Force:

If these jokers could ever get their act together, they could actually be pretty dangerous. With Captain Ginyu's ability to switch bodies and Guldo's ability to freeze

9) Babadi:

Ok, he's a short little troll who's afraid of his own shadow and he's not so tough, so why he's on the list? Well, maybe Babadi can't fight his own battles but he has the power to create nearly unstoppable warriors like Spopovich and has other threats under his control like Puipui and Yakon. Of course we can't forget he unleashed Majin Buu on the world as well. Even though his fighting skills aren't all that great, thanks to his magic, he can be a real danger!

8) Raditz:

If you think your older brother's a jerk, I'm sure Goku would be happy to trade. His bigger brother Raditz tried to kill him! When this evil Saiyan came to Earth he forced a showdown that cost Goku his life (of course, Goku came back. You can't keep a good Saiyan down). Even though Raditz hadn't pushed himself to any major Saiya-Jin levels, his natural power was greater than any fighter on earth. Raditz's appearance was pretty early in the Z saga and at that time, Piccolo was probably the strongest warrior of the bunch. If Raditz were to somehow come back, he'd have to advance about three more levels to give Goku and the gang a good return match.

7) Dr. Gero:

Now here's a guy who knows how to hold a grudge! He hated the Z fighters so much he not only created several of their most powerful enemies, he eventually turned himself into a quick and powerful android so he could challenge them physically. But Dr. Gero was always more of a thinker than fighter so even in a pretty strong android body, he was too scared to face the warriors in battle. Still, his main danger comes from his sneaky and brilliant mind. Who knows if he's got another terrifying android like Cell, hidden away, just waiting for the right moment to strike against the heroes?

6) Garlic Jr.:

True, he's not the toughest fighter and his number of attacks aren't that impressive, but he is incredibly powerful and thanks to his enchantments, Garlic Jr. can never be killed. Sure the Z fighters could easily outfight him, but all he'd have to do is outlast them until their energy was low and then strike. It took Gohan's secret power to knock him into the Deadzone, where he's currently trapped, so we may never know just how much punishment he could take...unless he somehow finds a way to escape.

5) Frieza:

Remember when Frieza was the deadliest threat to ever face the Z warriors? He blew up the Saiyan home world in his quest to rule the universe, and then blew up

Namek in an attempt to destroy Goku. But this was just as Goku discovered his true Saiyan might. Compared to that, even Frieza's 1,000,000 top power level was weak in comparison. When

Super Saiyan Trunks came from the future, he didn't even break a sweat when he got rid of cyborg Frieza and his no-good dad, King Cold. Still, Frieza is a deadly fighter with a number of deadly attacks and a master of transformation. Who knows if he's reached his final stage yet? Maybe he'll come back at a power level undreamed of.

4) Androids 17 & 18:

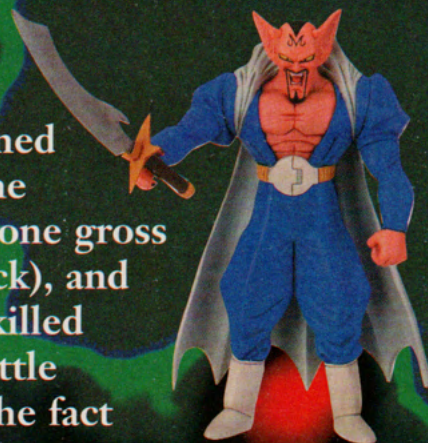

Don't be fooled by how nice they look, this brother / sister combo were such a major threat that they managed to defeat Gohan and destroy most of the world in Trunks' future timeline. In fact 17 and 18 were the very reason Trunks had to come back from the future; to prepare the Z warriors to combat the earth shattering menace of the androids. Either one was a match for a Super Saiya Jin, which puts them above Krillin, Tien and even Piccolo. Even though Android 18 has reformed and fallen in love with Krillin, her power level still makes her quite dangerous!

3) Dabura:

In two seconds, this powerful demon took Piccolo and Krillin out of the fight with his paralyzing spit that turned them to stone (man, that's one gross form of attack), and very nearly killed Gohan in battle later. Only the fact that Majin Buu decided to transform Dabura into a tasty snack stopped him from possibly defeating one of the most powerful Z warriors of all time. Like Garlic Jr, he was never actually defeated in battle, so there's no telling what kind of attack would've stopped him or just how powerful he actually was. But what we did see was good enough to get him a very high rating.

2) Cell:

Imagine trying to fight Goku, Vegeta, Frieza, Piccolo and King Cold at once. Now you've got an idea of what it's like to take on Cell, the ultimate android. Cell was truly Dr. Gero's most awesome creation. Even Gohan, using all of his hidden strength needed help from his dad and Vegeta to completely destroy this menace that may have a power level beyond measure.

Unlike most of the guys on this list, Cell is great at using energy and can use any attack or technique that been tried against him. No matter what their power or ability, this is one guy the Z warriors never want to face again.

1) Majin Buu:

Not only is he an impossible-to-beat fighter, but he also has the power of transmutation. He combines magic and amazing attacks.

Normally a Z villain has one power or the other, but since Buu combines them both, he's the most awesome menace they've ever had to face. If Buu can't outfight you, he'll just turn you into a donut. Even Saiyans combining their forms couldn't take him down. It took the energy of the entire world to defeat the final evil version of Buu. Any foe that can only be defeated by the energy of the Dragon Ball heroes and everyone on Earth has definitely earned the right to be the top bad guy in the Z Universe. ★

Those are our picks! What do you think? Think maybe Vegeta should have made the list? After all, he turns bad just as often as he is good. Or do you think Cell could wipe the floor with Majin Buu? Let us know; send in your own lists of which bad guys you think are the toughest!

Over the past two years or so, block figures have become all the rage. What are block figures, you ask? Think of the people that come with Lego Construction sets. They're cute, they're small, they're, well, blocky. And now they come in every flavor from Bruce Lee to Dragonball Z.

BLOCK MANIA!

This trend started in Japan with Kubricks. Kubricks, made by Medicom Toys, took the Lego-person model, spruced it up a bit, and ran with it. They obtained licenses for popular Japanese series, such as Devilman, Mazinger Z, and Neon Genesis Evangelion, and turned out cute little renditions of the characters. Alongside the Japanese properties, Medicom licensed many world-wide properties as well, such as Disney characters, Bruce Lee, Planet of the Apes characters, and characters from Marvel Comics. These figures, having been imported to the US and available through comic and specialty stores, quickly became fan favorites. Generally, each set of Kubricks comes with three figures, display stands, and a lot of accessories, all of which display an amazing attention to the little details.

Medicom also makes blank Kubricks, which are one-color, featureless figures that are great for customizing.

With the success of the Kubricks line, many other companies started to follow suit. Now, there are many different kinds of block figures, with varying levels of detail and articulation (ranging from the Lego-style Kubrick articulation to new "Stickfa" figures, which have almost more articulation than a human body). Nearly every popular property, from the Simpsons to rock/rap group Limp Bizkit has their own blocky toys. It was only a matter of time before the trend reached Dragonball Z.

DRAGON BALL Z FIGURES

The first set of Dragonball Z block figures to make the rounds on eBay and similar auction sites were of somewhat dubious origin. Some claimed they were prototype Kubricks that hadn't been officially licensed yet; some said they were customized Kubricks, mass-produced and sold through bootleg channels. Whatever their background, however, these first Dragonball Z block figures look wonderful. They seem to feature all of the attention to detail that's found on real Kubricks, along with special accessories and extra pieces where they're needed.

Unfortunately, these aren't officially licensed toys, so they're a bit harder to find. A few sets have been sold through eBay, but that's probably the only place to find these neat, though questionable, DBZ block figures.

However, there are officially licensed Dragonball Z block figures on the way!

Toynami has just announced a new line of block figures, called "I-Men". The I-Men are a bit bigger than Kubricks, have slightly more articulation, and are more angular than their Kubrick counterparts. The first two series of I-Men will feature characters from Robotech and Hanna-Barbara cartoons, but the third set will be all Dragonball Z!

The announced lineup features Goku, SS Goku, Gohan, SS Gohan, Vegeta, SS Vegeta, Piccolo, Trunks, SS Trunks in Tank Top, and SS Trunks in Armor. They will be sequentially numbered and released in blister-carded two-packs, for $8.99-9.99 each. Each two pack will come with two collectable metal medallions, which are collectable in their own right.

Furthermore, these medallions will also serve as bases for the figures, which will have magnets built into their feet.

But wait, there's more (I've always wanted to write that)! Each two pack will feature one Super Saiyan, and one non-SS figure. Each of the Super Saiyan figures will have translucent, light-up hair!

Toynami is aiming for a late fall release of these figures, which will put them on shelves just as the last season of DBZ starts on Cartoon Network. Hopefully, fan response to these cute representations of their favorite fighters will be positive, and we'll see more figures from Dragonball Z, perhaps a villain assortment!

All I can say in conclusion is that it's about time we saw some kind of cute version of our heroes that will be widely released. Japanese markets are flooded by super-deformed versions of Dragonball Z characters, and they seem to do extremely well there. Hopefully, these will only be the first of many super-deformed or otherwise non-standard versions of our Dragonball Z favorites. ★

Little People Count Too!

THE GOOD, THE BAD & THE CIRCUITRY:

DBZ has its fair share of gigantic muscle-bound heroes that can destroy a galaxy, but what about the little guys?? There are many short characters in Dragon Ball that play big roles, but don't get much screen time, and that's why we're going to give them their due credit in this month's Z Files!

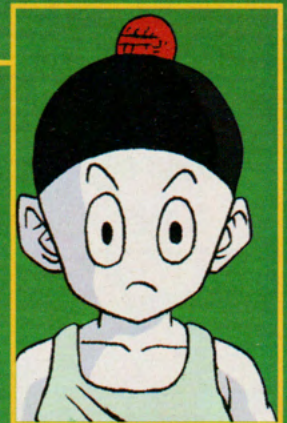

Korin

This little white cat who lives at the top of Korin Tower is actually a lower god. He can help train warriors that complete the grueling task of climbing to the top of his tower to meet him. His legendary Super Holy Water can make anyone stronger when they drink it, but first they must grab it from Korin, whose looks betray his potential as a martial arts expert. Master Roshi trained with Korin and it took him three years to grab the water, luckily it takes Goku considerably less time. But in the end, it turned out that the Super Holy Water was only normal water. It was the process of obtaining the water that made Goku stronger. However, Korin does have a secret supply of Super God Water. This water truly makes whoever drinks it, significantly more powerful, if they can survive drinking it that is. A small drop of it nearly kills Yajirobe, and Goku struggles to survive after downing a small cup of it. Korin is also popular because he is the only character who grows the magical senzu beans. These beans will cure almost any ailment, including mending bones and re-growing appendages. A single bean will give anyone 10 days worth of food and nutrition. The top of Korin's tower is also secretly linked to Kami's Palace with the aid of the Power Pole. A small hole on Korin Tower's roof is a holding space for the Power Pole which extends from there to Kami's Palace. This secret is first revealed after the end of the battle with Piccolo Daimaou, when Goku must figure out how to revive Shenron.

Chiaotzu

Tenshinhan's best buddy is a small white dwarfish character that is based on a typical Chinese ghost. Chiaotzu was at first a villain along with Tien when they appeared in the 22nd Tenkaichi Budoukai as students of a rival martial arts master, The Crane Elder. Chiaotzu has many telepathic and psychic abilities, but he must concentrate to use the techniques properly, which is why Krillin starts giving him math problems during their match. Chiaotzu can't concentrate on his abilities and as a result, loses. He is one of the first characters in the series who can fly via his own ki.

Dende

This tiny Nameckian whose brother was killed by Frieza ends up playing a very important role in the series when he saves Nameck from Frieza by summoning Porunga twice, and eventually becomes the god of Earth. Dende lived in a village on Nameck with his elder Muuri and brother Kargo. Kargo was cruelly killed by Frieza, but Gohan and Krillin save Dende and take him with them back to Bulma's camp. Dende is at first very quiet and reserved, (seeing your family killed before your eyes will do that to you), but becomes great friends with Gohan. After becoming the god of Earth, Dende upgrades the Dragon Balls, allowing them to grant three wishes, as well as the ability to wish multiple people back to life, and grant the same wish more than once. In Dragon Ball GT, Dende is slightly older and still performs his job well.

Puar and Oolong

These two were originally enemies who attended shape-shifting school together. Oolong was the class bully and stole the teacher's panties, while Puar was evidently a model student. Because of his lackadaisical attitude, Oolong never perfected his shape-shifting and can only hold a form for 5 minutes, then needs 1 minute to rest. Puar can hold a form for an indefinite amount of time. Oolong used his powers for evil and terrorized a village, but Goku put an end to that. Meanwhile Puar traveled around with Yamcha, a bandit in a desert, and used his powers to aid Yamcha in his pilfering.

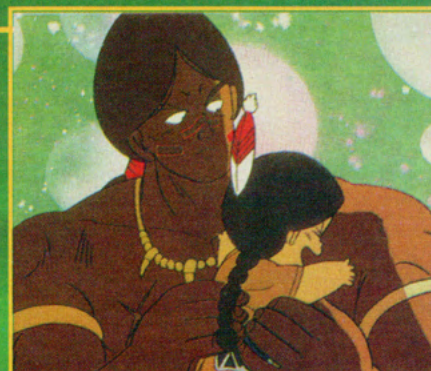

Umigame Sea Turtle

The sea turtle that Goku met in early Dragon Ball was searching for mushrooms one day when he lost his way and ended up hundreds of miles from the sea. Being a genuine kind-hearted soul, Goku decided to go out of his way and return the turtle to his home, much to Bulma's chagrin. Upon successfully returning the turtle to the ocean, Umigame asked Goku to wait for a prize, and soon thereafter, the turtle returned with Master Roshi on his back. It is through this meeting Gokou obtained the Kintoun cloud, met Master Roshi, and obtained another Dragon Ball!

Upa

This little Indian is the son of Bora, the Indian Chief who guards Korin Tower. Upa was very young when Goku first met him, and his father, a skilled and powerful warrior, was killed by Tao Pai Pai at his own home. Upa accompanied Goku, after he defeated the Red Ribbon Army, in order to help find all of the Dragon Balls. When Goku gathered all of them, he wished Upa's father back to life. At the very end of the Dragon Ball comic, Upa and Bora are seen again, much older and with a large family and tribe. ★

DBZ Mailbag Goodies

It's been a few months since we've dug into the virtual mailbag, and my hard drive is bursting with emails about your favorite Web sites!

Create a Card

A fun site that I found in the mailbag was Dragon Ball Z Arena (<http://home.talkcity.com/arcadealley/peter3680/index.html>). This site has some downloadable pictures, a chat room, and a handful of links, but the most unique feature: customized Dragon Ball Z greeting cards you can send via email! I checked it out and found the site has only one greeting card image available, but it's a great concept. I sent one to myself and it worked!

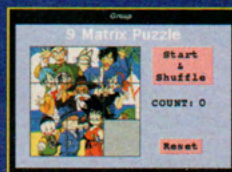

Later on, I discovered that this feature is a free service of <http://www.bravenet.com> web services, and that anyone can add Greeting Cards to their home page using whatever images they create! You can try mine out at <http://www.ronevry.com/greet.html>. It features some Dragon Ball and non-Dragon Ball artwork. If you create some greeting cards of your own (using artwork you created), please send one to me, maybe we will use them in a future follow up story.

Past and Present

I frequently get email from readers asking me to check out the Unrivaled Dragon Ball Source Web site. Actually, the site has been featured here before, but looking it over, I found something new and different. Linking directly to the site's game pages (<http://www.DragonBall-gt.com/unrivaled/games.htm>), you will find something terrific and free to download or play online! "The Challenge of Mite," a downloadable game for Windows PCs (sorry, not for Macs) created by Derric Hannah. You can see preview images of the game on the web page, and it looks like lots of fun. Secondly, there are a group of four different "tile shuffle" puzzles that anyone can play while you're on the web page! They feature Goku, Gohan, Vegeta, and a group shot. More and more, Dragon Ball web pages are becoming truly interactive and imaginative!

An astute reader named Jo wrote: "I don't know if you've already done this one, 'cause I only recently started collecting the magazine, But I would like to submit The Temple of Trunks web site (<http://www.dbcollection.com/trunks/>). Meredith Cantoni, who obviously loves what she does, hosts it. It's an all singing all dancing humor fest for future and Chibi Trunks fans alike, plus other characters appear in crazy situations." We've been to this web site before, but I found something I missed the first time around (hey, I'm only human). In the Humor section, you'll find "Trunk's Feature Films," which is apparently the most popular part of the site. Sixteen "films" are composed of stories told by photographing DBZ figures interacting with each other. The results are hilarious!

Behind the Web Sites

Another site recommended by three or four different readers was "Oujou, the Royal Castle" (<http://www.oujou.com/>). The site is loaded with humorous and fun content by an assortment of creators (not to mention a link to the first preview "teaser" poster for the live action DBZ movie), but by far, the best stuff there are a collection of home made manga by "Rejeeta." Her comic strips may not be as well drawn as the stuff done by the pros, but they more than make up for it in laughs! I interviewed Rejeeta by email and here are her responses:

Q: How long have you been doing the comics?

A: Around 3 years

Q: What is your real name?

A: Sarab

Q: How many people have been to your site?

A: 74231

Q: How often do you do new comic pages?

A: As often as I can!

Q: Anything else to say to our readers?

A: I hope you all enjoy our site...and my comics and I hope you keep coming back!

Rejeeta also asked, "Could you mention my non-DBZ art site, "Vermillion Works" at <http://www.oujou.com/raylon?>"

Of course, we don't do that sort of thing, so I won't mention it here.

Tori's World

Okay, I promised you a treat, and boy do I have one. The site is called "Toriyama's World," and should not be missed! Most Dragon Ball fans know that Akira Toriyama is the imaginative creator of the original

Dragon Ball manga stories that the TV program, movies, card and video games and toys were based on. While he has worked as a consultant on many of the spin-offs featuring the Dragon Ball characters, mostly he has been living in the Japanese countryside, turning out totally new comics for his loyal Japanese fans. Most of these new stories and characters have not appeared anywhere in the English language. This has changed!

For the time being, visitors to "Toriyama's World" (<http://www.toriyamaworld.com/>) will be able to download entire scanned and translated collections of some of his various manga series!

These include "Sand Land," a story of a hunt for water in a desert world, featuring a boy demon, dragons, and fast dune wagons, "Cowa," a full color story featuring magical kids on an adventure to rescue a town, and "Kajika," another long tale very similar to Dragon Ball. There are some other Toriyama stories as well, and a number of other Japanese manga artists' work is featured here. Each comic page, by the way, has not been reversed, and must be read Japanese style, right to left. Due to the ever-changing nature of the Internet, I don't know how long these stories will remain available for free download, but if you can, grab everything you see here!

As always, I welcome E-mails from readers letting me know about their favorite DBZ Web sites. Send your email to revry@panix.com and be sure to include the subject line "DBZ Readers Picks" so I will read it. I wish I could respond to each and every letter I get, but it really is impossible. But be assured that I do visit every site! ★
